Title: NEW INVESTMENTS AT MILAN-MALPENSA AIRPORT

The Italian press reported that infrastructure investments at the Malpensa airport will total USD 440 million in the 2001-2003 period, and might go up to USD 530 million, if the construction of a third runway is approved.

SEA, the publicly owned company operating the Milan-Linate and Milan-Malpensa airports, will invest lire 517 billion (or USD 235 million) in the 2001-2003 period, said company president Giorgio Fossa. Approximately USD 136 million will be dedicated to the construction of the third satellite, USD 32 million to the upgrading of the Baggage Handling System, an equal amount to the completion of the cargo center, and USD 35 million to the construction of aircraft maintenance hangars.

Furthermore, over USD 200 million would be invested by third parties, including international investors, in the construction of a "commercial and services platform", which includes hotels, a congress center and other business services, and stores.

The construction of a third runway would require additional investment of approximately USD 90 million. However, there are no firm commitments yet for the construction of this third runway, since approval by all nearby local city councils is needed in order to avoid administrative appeals, which would delay implementation.
